

Graduate veterinarian to a one-year paid internship program in Sweden

Are you curious about the Swedish way of working and passionate about veterinary medicine? Are you interested in a complete one-year internship program to fully support you in the start of your career? Evidensia Sweden, in partnership with the Swedish Employment Service / EURES, are now offering you tailored support and development within the discipline small animal practice as well as the Swedish work culture and language. If you are about to graduate or just recently did, this is a chance you don't want to miss.

Requirements

- Interested in creating a career as a qualified veterinarian in Sweden
- Committed to learn the Swedish language
- University degree in veterinary medicine
- Sufficient knowledge in English, both verbally and written

Application

You are welcome to submit your application and send it to HR BP Anne Pettersson at Evidensia Sweden. Include a thorough CV and cover letter with your application. Apply no later than 31 May 2018. Email: anne.pettersson@evidensia.se
Phone: 0046 79075 07 89

Come and meet Lara Feller, Swedish EURES Adviser at Teramo University on the 10th May, she can tell you all about our proposal.

Start date: During the fall 2018

About us

Evidensia was founded in early 2012 by the merger of four of Sweden's leading specialist hospitals. Two of our founder hospitals date back to the 1950's and are considered the inventors of the modern veterinary medicine for companion animals in the Nordic region. Today, Evidensia is a trusted partner for pet owners, employees and referring veterinarians across Europe. In 2017 we were joined by independent vetcare and are happy to offer care in the U.K.

